Eva Bosakova

(December 18th, 1931 – January 10th, 1991)

- Winner of Olympic Games on balance beam, Rome, 1960
- Winner of World Championships on floor, Moscow, 1958
- Winner of World Championships on balance beam, Moscow, 1958
- Winner of World Championships on balance beam, Prague, 1962

Eva Bosakova (born Vechtova) was an important person of Czechoslovak gymnastics in post-war era (1949 – 1962). She was born in 1931 in Mlada Boleslav. Her father was a very good gymnast and her mother did gymnastics on a competitive level, too. She was a gymnast by nature.

Eva tried to do figure skating at first. Although she was successful, she fell in love with gymnastics. She introduced dancing movements and new forms to the gymnastics. She wasn't afraid of experimenting with music on the floor.

17. Categories:

Young gymnasts	born 2006 – 2010	(8-12 years old)
Juniors	born 2003 – 2005	(13-15 years old)
Women	born 2002 and older	(16 and more years old)
Little Eva's	born 2008 and younger	(10 and less years old)

18. Participation condition: In-time application form accepted by the organizer, in-time registration in the competition office

Final competition: The condition is to take part in the beam exercise within the main competition. The gymnasts with top ten marks on the beam regardless the categories will participate in the final. In case of equal results, the better total score from the main competition is decisive. If this score is also equal, all gymnasts with equal score will compete

19. Evaluation:

Main competition: The winner is the best gymnast regardless the categories. The best three gymnasts in each category are awarded. The result is given by the sum of the points gained for beam and floor routines. In cases of equal results on the 1st place in the overall results, the floor exercise is decisive. If such criteria are still equal, the winners will compete in the final competition on the floor. In case of equal points on other places the gymnasts will share the place

Final competition: The best three gymnasts are awarded. The result is given by the value gained in the beam final competition. In case of equal scores the value gained for beam exercise in the main competition is distinctive; if this is also equal the floor exercise in the main competition is considered. If such criteria are still equal for more gymnasts on the 1st place, those will compete again on the beam. If the scores are equal on other positions, the gymnasts will share the place

Little Eva's: The best three gymnasts are awarded. The result is given by the sum of the points gained for beam and floor routines. In case of equal points on other places the gymnasts will share the place

20. Awards: Diplomas and medals will be awarded to the gymnasts on the first three places in the main competition in each category and in final.

Main competition: Winner: Czech Olympic Club Cup
In each category: 1st place 60 €
2nd place 40 €
3rd place 20 €

Final competition: Winner: Mountain bike
